Brody Merila

Brody Merila is a performer, choreographer, and aspiring director whose work is heavily inspired by the visual language of cinema and the grand scale of theatrical narratives. Driven by human connection, his movement style blends visceral athleticism and dynamic partnering to give voice to stories left untold. Brody's mission is to break down performance barriers, creating immersive and accessible dance that reflects the raw reality of the human experience. As an artist with autism, Brody is eager to bring his choreographic and directorial vision to the stage, the screen, and immersive multimedia spaces. He is deeply grateful for his incredible cast and everyone behind the scenes who made this production possible. Thank you for stepping into this world with us! Enjoy the show!
